	How does someone initially become aware of this process?	What do people experience as they begin the process?	In the core moments of the process, what happens?	What do people typically experience as the process finishes?	What happens after the experience is over?
Steps What does the person typically experience?	Searches for local city activities online.	Selects preferred tour and time slot.	Locates meeting spot and greets the guide.	Tour concludes at the final landmark.	Receives email requesting a review.
	Browses website and views tour options.	Enters payment details and receives confirmation.	Participates in the guided city walk.	Says goodbye and tips the guide.	Recommends tour to friends online.
Interactions What digital touchpoints or physical objects do they use?	Search Engine (Google)	Online Booking Portal	Physical Meeting Point	Group Members	Email Client
	Fairplane Website & Social Media Ads	Automated Email Confirmation	Tour Guide (In-person) Provided Audio Headsets	Cash or Digital App (for tipping)	Review Platforms (TripAdvisor, Google)
Goals & motivations At each step, what is the primary goal? ("Help me...")	"Help me find an exciting, highly-rated activity for my trip."	"Help me book quickly and ensure my payment is secure."	"Help me learn new things and enjoy the city safely."	"Help me conclude smoothly and know the best way back to my hotel."	"Help me share my great experience with others easily."
Positive moments What steps are enjoyable, delightful, or exciting?	Website has beautiful, inspiring photos of the city.	Instant email confirmation provides peace of mind.	Guide is energetic and tells fascinating hidden stories.	Great final photo opportunity arranged by the guide.	Reliving the fun memories while looking at photos later.
	Finding a tour that fits the schedule perfectly.		Bonding with other travelers.
Negative moments What steps are frustrating, confusing, or costly?	Too many options make it hard to choose.	Have to create an account just to book a ticket.	Difficulty finding the exact meeting spot in a crowded area.	Awkwardness figuring out how much to tip.	Receiving too many promotional emails after the trip.
	Unclear meeting point details before booking.		Hard to hear the guide in noisy streets.	Not having cash on hand.
